Lafarge South Africa's Partnership with Triple E Training

Lafarge South Africa embarked on implementing the first ABET classes in October 2001. Since then, all our operations nationwide, in both our Business Units - Aggregates & Readymix and Cement have benefited from the professional services provided by the staff of Triple E.

We have found Triple E to be a hands-on provider who is sensitive to the needs of our company and its culture. They have been flexible in providing ABET training for smaller groups of learners that are dispersed geographically. Their training material and previous experience in the Seta environment, together with their relatively competitive pricing have enabled us to strengthen our partnership over the past years.

In conclusion, as a fast growing Company in South Africa, and leader in the World's Cement Industry, Lafarge will continue implementing ABET throughout its operations, and would certainly recommend Triple E Training as a professional service provider of Adult Basic Education Training.
